John Spurway's world premiere of his comedy 'Grounded' proves that first impressions are not quite what they seem.

Actually, sometimes they're dead wrong.

The weather can keep you grounded in more ways than one as a grandmother, cosmetics rep, cranky accountant and a really good looking young couple all in close quarters share their stories in this Mission Impossible meets Barbie and Ken intrigue.

Nathan Brewer likes to keep to himself and mind his own business, but gets embroiled with everyone around him whether he likes it or not.

Caught in an airport lounge, waiting for the delays to lift, Nathan finds himself entangled with four people he's never met before and finds out way more than he ever wanted to know about each of them.

New Brunswick playwright John Spurway (Between Friends), author is thrilled to be back at Lighthouse Festival Theatre for the production of his second play.

Artistic Director Chris McHarge says, "It's been a real pleasure working on the script with John and staging the show with such a talented team of artists: Ralph Small (Separate Beds), Debra Hale (Storm Warning), Linda Goranson (Kitchen Witches), Maria Dinn (Jenny's House of Joy), and Brad Austin, who is making his debut on the Lighthouse stage with Grounded.

Grounded runs Tuesday, August 4 to Saturday, August 22 at 8 p. m. at Lighthouse Festival Theatre, 247 Market Street in Port Dover Ontario.

Tickets start at $27 and can be purchased by calling 519-583-2221 or online at www.lighthousetheatre.com .
